SEARCH FOR SMITH.

Now Believed That Missing Student Has Gone West.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 10.—Search for W. E. Smith, missing State University student, has developed into a farce. He is daily found and identified at points hundreds of miles apart. It is now generally believed that he has gone West to his parents, who live in New Mexico, and that he has not written his brother because he is ashamed of having left college as he did. Smith has been in the West long enough before to become thoroughly acquainted with the country and would not likely get lost.

ILL MANY MONTHS.

Death Comes as Relief of Tuberculosis Victim.

Grover Hord, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hord, died Saturday night at the home of his parents, on South Virginia street, after a long illness of tuberculosis. He was in his twentieth year and was a young man who had a host of friends.

About a year ago Mr. Hord accepted a position in Memphis, but on account of declining health he was forced to resign and return home. His condition did not improve and later he went to California, hoping that the climate on the Pacific coast would prove beneficial. He continued to grow worse, however, and in August his father went after him, and he was brought home the latter part of that month. He had been confined to his bed ever since his return and his death was not unexpected.

Dr. M. A. Jenkins held funeral services at the residence yesterday morning at 10 o'clock and the interment took place in Riverside Cemetery.

Saturday a new issue of $61,000 in bank notes, most of it in $5 bills, was put into circulation by the bank and Mr. Jarrett was called upon to write his name upon them to make them good. It took something like 12,000 flourishes of his pen to make the "pile of money."

Events in His Career.

DEFENDS THE STANDARD OIL

Corporations Here to Stay, Says Oil
King, and should Be Created and Regulated Under Federal Laws—Predicts Great Future For Rising Generation.

John D. Rockefeller appears for the first time as a writer in a series of articles on "Some Random Reminiscences of Men and Events of the First Half of the Nineteenth Century" which recently appeared in the October issue of the World's Work.

Mr. Rockefeller starts at the outset that on a rainy morning, when golf is wanting, "I am tempted to become a garrulous old man and tell some stories of men and things which have happened in an active life." He refers to the extent to which he has been associated with interesting people, especially in the business world, and continues:

"If one talks about one's experiences, there is a natural temptation to charge one with traveling the easy road to egotism; if one keeps silent, the inference of wrongdoings is made. It is more difficult to meet, as it would then be said that there is no valid defense to be offered.

"It has not been my custom to press my affairs forward into public gaze, but I have come to see that if my family and friends want some record of things which might shed light on matters that have been discussed and discussed it is right that I should yield to their advice and in this informal way go over again some of the events which have made life interesting to me.

"If a tenth of the things that have been said are true, then dozens of able and faithful men who have been associated with me have been guilty of grave faults. For myself I had decided to say nothing, hoping that after my death the truth would gradually come to the surface and posterity would do strict justice, but while I live and can testify to certain things it seems fair that I should refer to some points which I hope will help to set forth several much discussed happenings in a new light. I am convinced that they have not been fully understood.

"It has been said that I forced the men who became my partners in the oil business to join with me. I would not have been so shortsighted. If it were true that I followed such tactics I ask would it have been possible to make of such men lifelong companions? For fourteen years I have been out of business and in eight or ten years have only once gone to the company's office."

Mr. Rockefeller speaks of the development of the Standard Oil company and says that the plan of selling direct to the consumer and the exceptionally rapid growth of the business "bred a certain antagonism which, I suppose, could not have been avoided." Of the direct selling to the consumer he says: "This was done in a fair spirit and with due consideration for every one's rights. We did not ruthlessly go after the trade of our competitors and attempt to ruin it by cutting prices or instituting a spy system. If any of the employees of the company were ever zealous in going after sales they acted in violation of the expressed and known wishes of the company."

Mr. Rockefeller says that in the early days the oil industry was considered a most hazardous undertaking, not altogether unlike speculative mining undertakings. "New men came in, he says, 'ever dreamed of the magnitude of what proved to be the later expansion.' Further on he says:

"Another thing to be remembered about the so called 'corner' is that there has been no 'water' introduced into the capital (perhaps we felt that oil and water would not have mixed, nor in all these years have we been able to wait for money which the Standard owed. It is a common thing to hear people say that this company has crowded out its competitors. Only the uninforming could make such an assertion. It has and always has had and always will have hundreds of active competitors. The Standard has not now and never did have a royal road to supremacy, nor is its success due to any one man, but to the multitude of able men who are working together."

On the subject of the modern corporation the article says:

"Beyond question there is a suspicion of corporations. There may be reason for such suspicion very often, for a corporation may be more or less immoral, just as a man may be moral or the reverse, but it is folly to condemn all corporations because some are bad or even to be unduly suspicious of all because some are bad. But the corporation in form and character has come to stay. This is a thing that may be depended upon. It is a safe bet to make about advantages of industrial combinations. There are a necessity, and if Americans are to have the privilege of extending their business in all the states of the Union and into foreign countries as well they are a necessity on a large scale and require the agency of more than one corporation.

"It is more to suggest any legislation.

and, in lieu thereof state legislation as nearly uniform as possible encouraging combinations of persons and capital for the purpose of carrying on industries, but sufficient to prevent frauds upon the public.

"The great business interests will, I hope, so comport themselves that foreign capital will consider it a desirable thing to hold shares in American companies. It is for Americans to see that foreign investors are well and honestly treated, so that they will never regret purchases of our securities. I may speak thus frankly because I am an investor in many American enterprises, but a controller of none, with one exception and that a company which has not been much of a dividend payer, and I, like all the rest, am dependent upon the honest and capable administration of the industries. I firmly and sincerely believe that they will be so managed."

Under the heading "The Modern Corporation" Mr. Rockefeller gives the views he expressed before the Industrial Commission in 1900, when he suggested federal incorporation and control and in lieu of that state legislation as nearly uniform as possible. "I still feel," he now says, "as I did in 1900."

"I am far from believing that this (corporation regulation) will adversely affect the individual," says Mr. Rockefeller, dwelling on "Opportunities." "The great economic era we are entering will give splendid opportunity to the young man of the future. I am naturally an optimist, and when it comes to a statement of what our people will accomplish in the future I am unable to express myself with sufficient enthusiasm."

After commenting on a statement of when our people will accomplish in the future I am unable to express myself with sufficient enthusiasm."

"Some men of business," he says, "are so absorbed in their business affairs that they hardly have time to think of anything else. If they do not interest themselves in a work outside of their own office and undertake to raise money they begin with an apology, as if they are ashamed of themselves. I am no beggar, I have heard many of them say to which I could only reply, 'I am sorry you feel that way about it. I have been this sort of beggar all my life, and the experience of it has been so interesting and important to me that I will venture to speak of them later.'"

Other subjects to be taken up in the course of the autobiography will include the true life in philanthropy.

SUBMARINE WARSHIP.

Holland Says It Will Be Able to Cross the Atlantic.

John P. Holland of East Orange, N. J., inventor of the submarine boat, has devised a deep sea submarine which, he says, will be able to cross the Atlantic and revolutionize modern warfare. He says the new invention has been sold to a foreign government, whose name he declines to make public.

"The new boat will have a speed of 30 knots an hour," said Mr. Holland recently. "It will be manned by a crew of five and will be so constructed as to lift the submarine from the plane of a coast and harbor defender to an instrument of aggressive warfare. I offered the patent to the United States navy department, but received no encouragement, so had to sell them abroad. The navy department discounts the inventions of Americans and places a premium upon devices tried by other powers."

The new boat will be cigar shaped and can be sunk to a depth of 200 feet. It will be strengthened to resist pressure under water and will discharge a torpedo at twice the speed of the present torpedo. The vessel, according to the inventor, can accompany a battleship on any voyage, no matter what the length.

Almost Perfect Mammoth. According to dispatches received by the Imperial Zoological society to recover the remains of the mammoth recently killed in northern Siberia has returned with its prize, which proves to be the finest and most complete specimen ever obtained. Even the trunk of the animal was secured, having been preserved undamaged by the intense cold. The whole skeleton is intact, the head and jaws are perfect except for two teeth, and the body is covered with a well preserved hide and shaggy hair. The specimen is the first ever excavated with the trunk in good condition.

FOR KENTUCKY—Tuesday Fair,

Andrew Carnegie has given $20,000 to the Republican campaign fund.

Owensboro registered 3,276 votes, 1,665 of them Democrats, 1,305 Republicans and 316 Independents.

Wm. Cromwell, who was stricken with paralysis at Frankfort ten days ago, is better and prospects are good for his early recovery.

Chicago beat New York in the last game by 4 to 2 and won the pennant of the National League championship for 1908.

The Breckinridge News, for the last eight or ten years a Republican newspaper, has come out for Ben Johnson for Congress in the Fourth district.

Jos. M. Brown, Democrat, was elected Governor of Georgia last week by about 80,000 over Yancey Carter, Independent.

The Louisville Herald is still using cartoons of Taft wearing a straw hat. It is no longer necessary for straw to show which way the cyclone is coming that will hit "Me Too" next month.

The registered vote in Bowling Green was 2,006, of which 1,008 were Democrats, 732 Republicans and 186 Independents. Of the Third class cities, Hopkinsville with 1,800 votes beat Henderson's 1,635 and ran a close race with Bowling Green.

Gov. Willson must not make the mistake of supposing that everybody who joined in the honors shown him during his trip to Western Kentucky is for him politically. In this city half of his audience were Bryan Democrats, many of whom admire the Governor for the fight he is making to restore order in Kentucky. The people of Kentucky are tired of night riding and no wise politician will try to make votes by abusing the Governor for trying to suppress lawlessness.

Dr. Jos. L. Barker, the new chairman of the Association committee of Christian county, has assumed a prominent place at once in the affairs of the executive committee. Dr. Barker has done much to bring about good feeling in this county by making a loyal and almost successful fight for a Hopkinsville man for grader, a position that means much for a local market, as is shown by the fact that the Springfield and Clarksville markets have sold practically all of their holdings. Dr. Barker was made one of the three members of the new finance committee, a position for which he is especially well fitted.

The first of the series of seven baseball games between Detroit American and Chicago National for the world's championship was played at Detroit Saturday in a drizzling rain that lasted throughout six innings. Victory went to Chicago—10-3. The second game was played at Chicago Sunday and won by Chicago by a score of 6 to 1.

Dr. Carter Helm Jones, pastor of the Southern Baptist church at Lynchburg, Va., has resigned to go to Oklahoma City and a dispatch says the step was made necessary because Dr. Jones recently married a prominent and charming Methodist woman. Objections were raised and he promptly resigned.

Judge G. B. Bingham will not be a candidate for re-election as county judge of Trigge county, and Capt. John C. Dabney is a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

Mr. Bryan spoke in Missouri Saturday, breaking the record with 26 speeches in one day. Mr. Kern closed his southern campaign at Huntington, W. Va.

Mr. M. H. Smith, President of the L. & N. Railroad, denies a report that he would vote for Bryan and says he is for Taft.

Walter Wellman says Maryland will go Democratic this year, as the labor vote is for Bryan.

Ollie James in Illinois.

Following is an extract from one of Ollie James' recent eloquent speeches in Illinois:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I am glad to come to Illinois. I am glad to meet the people of this great commonwealth. The truth of it, you look so much like Kentuckians I almost feel at home. (Applause.) Kentucky has furnished to Illinois many of the great citizenship which has made your state renowned. Kentucky gave to you Adlai Stevenson (Applause), and you gave him to rule as Vice President of the Union, and unless I mistake the enthusiasm I behold everywhere you are going to elect him your Governor in November. (Great applause.) Kentucky gave to Illinois Abraham Lincoln, Illinois gave him to the republic; the republic gave him to the ages. (Applause.)

"I greet you as part of that great Union, which was only cemented into the fraternal bonds of a stronger union by a war, which is only remembered to recall the courage of two of the mightiest armies, displaying courage which has found no counterpart in the conflicts of the world. (Applause.) Disraeli, which I love, sends to her brethren of the North the assurance that she yields to none in her love for the stately banner of the republic, and that if Abraham Lincoln were alive this night there is not a foot of Southern soil upon which he might not pitch his tent under Dixie's sky and pillow his head upon a Confederate soldier's knee and sleep, and sleep in safety. (Great cheering.)

"Illinois gave to Nebraska the mighty crusader who is bearing aloft the stainless banner of Democracy. Nebraska gave him to humanity, and humanity is calling him to emancipate the struggling millions of oppressed Americans from the unholy clutches of oppressive greed. (Great cheering.)"

Madisonville Won.

VARNISH FOR SHOES.

Preparation Gives Good Results in Restoring Old Footwear.

A waterproof shoe varnish resembling patent leather in luster is compounded of shellac, one ounce; alcohol, three ounces; a pinch of lampblack to color, says Scientific American. Owing to the unfavourable action of alcohol on leather this shoe varnish is not to be recommended for brand new shoes, but to rehabilitate old shoes to a pristine shine it is unsurpassed.

The tendency of shoes being cracked by it may very largely be averted by first treating the leather to several coats of fish oil or vasoline. Then, after the shoe is thoroughly dried, the varnish is applied hot and the excess immediately wiped off. The shoes should then be polished with a fine buff until the surface is smooth and apparently dry and free from oil or paraffin. The shoe varnish is then thinly applied with a small sponge or brush. Several thin coats put on several hours apart may be necessary to get full luster. After that usually one thin application is sufficient. Patent leather paste polish rubbed over it and burnished with flannel softens the glitter and leaves a very handsome bright surface. The chief other advantage to be derived from its use comes from its resistance to water. It is, therefore, invaluable when applied to preserve the good looks of the sides of the soles and heels of shoes to be worn in bad weather and even to waterproof their bottoms.

A Process For Staining Wood.

Hitherto wood has been stained by impregnating it while still fresh with a solution of some coloring matter. The solution was squeezed into the wood under a high pressure. According to a new Swiss process, the wood is impregnated with a solution of a coloring matter in hydrocarbons such as petroleum. For this purpose the wood is placed in a cask filled with the colored solution so as to be completely covered. There it remains until it is thoroughly impregnated by the solution. The staining in the cask may be effected with or without pressure, cold or warm. In this manner it is possible to stain any wood, either fresh or dry.

New England's Ice Cap.

FOURTH SOLDIER

Figures In a Black Patch Romance.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 9.—Another Black Patch romance was consummated here last evening when Miss Ruth Smith, of Princeton, one of the witnesses for the defense in the Hollowell night rider trials in the Federal Court, and a relative of the defendants, was married to J. J. Sweeney, of Owensboro, a member of Company C, Third Kentucky, stationed at Princeton. The couple met and fell in love during the three months that soldier Sweeney was camped there. They were married at the home of Charles Friederich, 233 North Sixth street.

Back In 1854.

Editor Bell, of the Georgetown Times, tells of the drought in 1854, which makes the present dry spell dwindle into insignificance in comparison. It did not rain that year from June 17 to some time in October. Three negroes were hanged on the day it rained in June at Versailles for killing a white man, and a white man was hanged the day it rained in October, and the saying got current that somebody had to be hanged to bring a rain. Maybe that is what is needed now. Bring on another man.—State Journal.

New Horse Disease.

Anthrax, regarded by the medical profession as the most virulent disease which attacks cattle and horses, has broken out in a certain quarter of Shelby county. The State authorities have asked the Federal authorities to take command of the fight against the disease, explaining their action on the ground of lack of co-operation of local health officers.

BABY'S ITCH EASILY CURED

Infant's Eczema Quickly Relieved by External Use of Wintergreen Compound.

Infantile eczema, which has baffled the skill of the best physicians for so many years, at last seems to be curable with great ease.

Results of the last two years indicate conclusively that baby's itch, infantile eczema and other skin diseases of children can be very simply cured by the application of a compound composed of oil of wintergreen, thymol and glycerine, as in B. B. B. Prescription.

The Rev. Lewis Steele, of Weatherly, Pa., writes:

"Our baby boy's little face was so dreadfully covered with eczema that blood and water ran from the sores nearly all the time. After using 31 bottles of D. D. D. Prescription we are so happy to tell you he is entirely cured and the disease has never broken out again. If this letter is in any way a help to other sufferers, you may publish it."

If you have a child which is suffering with this terrible itch, we are sure you will not neglect one hour to give your baby the right kind of relief. We have seen too often how quickly the remedy mentioned above takes the itch away at once and how all the cures seem to be permanent; we have seen this too often to hesitate at all in recommending the remedy for your children.

PAID FOR EVERYTHING.

Says State Inspector Regarding Mr. Milward's Acts.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—State Inspector M. H. Thatcher today filed with the Governor a report of his investigation of the charges that Stanley Milward, a member of the State Board of Control, had been using the laundry of the Lexington asylum for his private washing, had ice delivered to him daily from the asylum and also vegetables from the asylum gardens.

The inspector includes in his report a signed statement from Col. Scott and Gen. Haley, two other members of the board, in which they say that they had told Milward there would be no impropriety in his getting ice, vegetables and laundry at the asylum. The report of the inspector also shows that Mr. Milward, in order to stop any further comment, has paid in full for everything that he got from the asylum, and has discontinued the ice, vegetables and laundry.

IN A RAGE

Bryan Will Carry New York by 100,000.

Next to a woman scorned, Hell hath no fury like a party balked of its prey. The Republicans take the one from their Chief. They too are in a rage. Which ever way they turn defeat stares them in the eye. The Democrats will carry New York by a hundred thousand majority.

There is little less than a Republican chance in Ohio. In Indiana the Elephant is hopelessly down of Asiatic Cholera. Already Democracy, beginning with Illinois, sweeps the West like a prairie fire. How could it be otherwise in the face of what the President is doing?

In Kentucky.

The following bit of verse, in imitation of the popular "In Kentucky" was written in a moment's time, and read by the author, Miss Leila Partridge, before the Butler County Teachers' Institute on September 24th, as an expression of her appreciation of the cordial reception and hospitality extended to her by the teachers:

Moonbeams fall the softest
 In Kentucky;
 The moonlight walks come ofttest
 In Kentucky;
 There happy hours fly fleetest,
 The maidens dress the neatest,
 And smile on all the sweetest,
 In Kentucky.
 The sunshine's ever brightest

 The breezes whisper lightest

A special from Denver says the bankers there are "between the devil and the deep sea" on the matter of guaranteeing bank deposits and postal savings banks. The people are determined to have their deposits guaranteed and the banker hesitates at the change. The savings bank section unanimously opposed postal savings banks and here was some division in regard to the matter of guaranteeing deposits, though most of them oppose either. Between the two, guaranteeing bank deposits is much the best thing for the bankers and the depositors.

WOODCHOPPING TEST.

Vermont Axman's Exploit to Decide a Wager.

STANDING TIMBER CUT DOWN

Ed Mootie of Amsten, Vt., Easily Cuts, Splits and Piles Five Cords of Wood 'Twixt Sunrise and Sunset—Won $100 For His Day's Work.

Ed Mootie of Amsten, Vt., who lays claim to the title of champion woodchopper of Vermont, recently added to his fame by chopping, splitting and piling five cords of wood from standing trees between sunrise and sunset. He won $100 for his day's work, and Maxwell Evans, oldest son of the late United States Senator William M. Evans, added $1,000 to his bank account, as he backed Mootie to accomplish the feat.

There were present Samuel G. Blythe of New York, who had made the principal wager with Mr. Evans, and many prominent Vermonters. The contest took place at Windsor, near Amsten, Vt., on a farm owned by Mr. Evans. The chopping began at sunrise, twenty-two minutes after 5 o'clock, and was to end at sunset, ten minutes to 6. Mootie was attended by his son Frank, to keep the axes sharp, and he handled these instruments and the splitting wedges to his father as fast as they were needed. C. M. Lawrence, a civil engineer of Colchester, officiated as the measurer.

Mootie by half past 10 had cut down eighteen trees, ranging in length from sixty to seventy feet and from nine to thirteen inches in diameter at the base. He had chopped and split three and a half cords, and he said that his muscle was as good as when he began.

It is seldom that a woodchopper has had such a snappy dressed company to witness his work. With occasional lunches of hash and more frequent drinks of milk and brandy, Mootie chopped away, and at noon about four cords were on the ground, cut and split, but not piled. At that time he declared the job would be finished at 4 o'clock, and the result proved the accuracy of his prophecy. At just five minutes after 4 o'clock the official measurer announced that the long pile contained five and one-eighth cords of wood, and Mootie stopped work with another eighth of a cord on the ground already split. Twenty-five pine trees seventy-five feet tall had been cut down. Mr. Blythe, who showed himself a good loser, joined Mr. Evans in his congratulations, and Mootie mounted the pile, ax in hand, while a hundred cameras were focused on him. He had done his task, with an hour and a half to spare.

In the town of Weatherfield, midway between Windsor on the Central Vermont railway and Cavendish on the Rutland railroad, under the shadow of Ascutney mountain, lies this little hamlet called Amsten. A quarter of a century ago Charles Amsten built there some kilns in which to burn the lime which is found in abundance along the Black river at Amsten. Then he added a sawmill, a gristmill and a general store, and Uncle Sam added a postoffice. The place speedily became a center of trade for miles around and prospered greatly until the death of Mr. Amsten some ten years ago.

Others then managed the property with varying degrees of success until it was brought to the attention of Mr. Evans five years ago. The proposition looked so good to him that he bought the entire outfit and made Luther C. White of Windsor his manager. The property includes several timber tracts, which are being cleared. In one of the reports from White to Evans the former had told him of the timber cutting capacity of Ed Mootie and had rated Ed's capacity at about twenty-five cords a week, cut, split and piled. That looked like a pretty good record to Evans, and, always proud of his native state and the prowess of its people, he told the story to several of his friends.

One of these friends was present at a dinner which Mr. Evans gave to some friends at the New Willard in Washington last spring, and Mr. Evans was asked to explain how this man Mootie could average more than five cords of wood a day, cut, split and piled. The explanation was not at all satisfactory to his guests, and Evans was immediately bombarded by offers of wagers that neither Ed Mootie nor any other Vermonteer could perform such a feat. Mr. Evans sporting instinct is tempered with caution, and it occurred to him that White might be mistaken in his estimate of Mootie's capacity. So he wired White as follows:

Can Ed Mootie cut five cords of wood in one day? If so, I will pay him $100 and am joined at it. Wire me at once. If he can, make your telegram strong, but accurate, as we have to back this up. M. E.

White promptly replied: Maxwell Evans, New Willard, Washington, D. C.: I have consistent witnesses to prove that Mootie chopped, split, but did not pile, five and one-half cords rock maple in one day, twenty-five cords pine. He offers to bet to cut again. L. C. W.

When Evans got White's message he lost no time in accepting all the wagers offered, and it was not long before the aggregate amount was large enough to make a trip to Vermont worth while. The bet was that "Mootie must fell, cut, split and pile five cords of standing four foot wood between the hours of sunrise and sunset on Sept. 29." Stories of the novel contest had spread about the country, and hundreds from the surrounding towns came to see the trick turned.

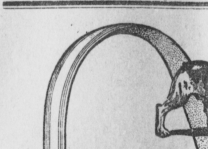

NATURE'S ESSENCE.

Extracted From Forest Plants.

Nature's laws are perfect. If we obey them, but disease follows disobedience. Go straight to nature for the cure, to the forest, there are mysteries here that we can fathom for us. Take the bark of the black-cherry tree, the root of sandalwood, stone root, queen's root, bloodroot and golden seal root, make a scientific, non-alcoholic extract of them with just the right proportions, and you have Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It took Dr. Pierce, with the assistance of two learned chemists, eight years of hard work experimenting to make this vegetable extract and alterative of the greatest efficiency. Just the sort of remedy you need to make rich, red blood, and cure that lassitude and feeling of nerve exhaustion. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery bears the stamp of PUBLIC ACQUAINTANCE and has sold more largely in the past forty years than any other blood purifier and stomach tonic. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood purified and enriched—the vital force of the body brightened and their increased activity consumes the waste rubbish which has accumulated in the system. Doctor E. V. Pierce, the founder of the "Lyralde" Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and a physician of large experience and practice.

TO TEACH MINE WORKERS.

System of Education Looking to Protection of Life and Limb.

The anthracite coal mining companies are about to embark upon an educational scheme which, the officials think, will do more to lessen the number of accidents than any other which could be devised. Its purpose is to give to the rank and file of mine workers the opportunity to learn mining from experts. They will learn at the same time how to protect themselves and their fellows and how to overcome the difficult engineering problems encountered in the anthracite fields.

The pioneer in the movement is the Lehigh Valley Coal company, says a Wilkesbarre (Pa.) dispatch. It is practically certain, however, that the other large anthracite mining companies will follow suit, giving practically every mine employee the opportunity for instruction. The door to promotion will thus be thrown open to the humblest employee.

At Lost Creek the Lehigh Valley has made arrangements to soon open the first school. A room has been fitted up with desks, blackboard and other necessary paraphernalia. A reference is made to periodicals devoted to mining subjects are also provided. Everybody in the mine, from veteran down to breaker boy, will be invited to attend.

The hope that the educational work will substantially reduce accidents is based upon facts recently reported by the state department of mines. James E. Roderick, chief of the department, says that ignorance or carelessness causes the great majority of casualties. Especial emphasis will be laid upon the protection of life and limb. No text book will be regarded as so much important as the rules and regulations for safety.

DAYTON TO HONOR WRIGHTS.

Home Town of Aeroplane Inventors Planning Big Celebration.

A movement has been started in Dayton, O., to extend to Orville and Wilbur Wright a fitting testimonial as for the feeling of pride entertained for them by their fellow townsmen.

A letter was recently received by the committee in charge of the affair from Orville Wright. In part he says: "I am unable to express my gratitude for the honor given my brother and myself in the generous expression of admiration and affection. I would not wish to interfere with plans as to wound the feeling of our fellow townsmen in their desire to do us honor, yet I know that my brother and as myself would prefer to return quietly and live among you as we have in the past. I think that any definite arrangements should be deferred until my brother, who is now in France, could be consulted. I could not wish to receive any honor in which he would not be an equal participant."

At the first meeting of the reception committee announcement was made that efforts are being made to have the Wright brothers give an exhibition flight in Dayton upon their return home and that the invitation was sent with assurance of success.

It has been suggested that a suitable expression of regard for the services of the inventors be the securing of the first ship of the Wrights and placing it in the Dayton museum. Another plan is the erection of a suitable statue or monument in Cooper park, in the central part of Dayton, and dedicating it to the two brothers.

A magnificent loving cup will be presented to the aerial navigators, and it is certain that Dayton people will witness a great public demonstration in honor of the world's most successful aerial navigators.

ACTORS' JOKE ON PITTSBURG.

Made Up as Taft, Bryan and Hearst and Fooled Hotel Guests.

Three actors who played recently at a Pittsburgh theater created considerable excitement at the Hotel Lincoln one afternoon. Shortly after noon a man whom every one would have sworn was William Howard Taft entered and hurried up the elevator without registering. Right on his heels came William Jennings Bryan and followed Taft upstairs. When the spectators, whose numbers had increased to several hundred, were almost beside themselves William Randolph Hearst came in and followed them.

Finally the spectators could stand it no longer and started the party where it was said the three had gone. Here the three were found in earnest conversation. Finally the police had to be summoned to clear away the crowd. Then it came out that the three men were William Johnston, Edward R. Brooks and Corney Burton, actors, made up to resemble the distinguished men.

Novel Church Furnishing Bee.

The men accepted the proposition. After rays the dust the painting will begin. The women not needed in preparing the dinner will assemble outside, not under the ladders and paint pots, and sing encouraging and inspiring hymns. Rev. C. M. Bryant, pastor of the church, will be one of the painters.

Facts About

The Great Majestic Range

It is the only range in the world made of Malleable and Charcoal Iron.

It has, beyond any question of a doubt, the largest and best reservoir.

It uses about half the fuel used on other ranges, and does better work by far.

The Majestic All Copper Nickel Reservoir heats the water quicker and hotter than any other. It is the only reservoir with a removable frame.

The Charcoal Iron Body of the Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a steel body.

Being made of non-breakable material, there is practically no expense for repairing the MAJESTIC.

As for baking, it is perfect; not only for a few months, but for all time to come.

A Great Majestic Range lasts three times as long as a cheap range, but it doesn't cost three times as much.

PROOF—We don't ask you to take our word for any of the above statements, but if you will call at our store, a man from the factory, where our Majestic Ranges are made, will prove to your satisfaction that these are absolute facts, and will show you many more reasons why the Great Majestic Range is absolutely the best that money can buy.

POLITICS GROWS WARMER NOW

Both Sides Claiming Indiana With Democrats Confident.

BRYAN AND TAFT

Both Whooping Things Up This Week in Their Own States.

The opening of the week will find both Taft and Bryan in their own States. For both there have been arranged strenuous trips covering the first three days of the week. Bryan's program is said to call for quite fifty speeches in eastern and central Nebraska, and he will then proceed to Illinois and Indiana. Taft will speak in big and small places in Ohio, in halls and in open air meetings from trains and on balconies on the same days that Mr. Bryan is addressing his fellow-Nebraskans.

The Courier-Journal has begun the publication of a series of special articles on the outlook in the doubtful states, by O. O. Stealey, Democrat, and Jas. S. Henry, Republican, traveling together. They begin with Indiana and Stealey's first letter yesterday says the Democrats are practically sure to elect Marshall for governor, have the best chance for the Legislature, and "a smashing good chance to carry the state for Bryan." Henry says it looks like Marshall has the better of it, but Taft will carry the state and the Republicans believe he will pull the state ticket through.

PROF. REICHERT

Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease in Texas.

Relatives in this city have received telegrams announcing the death in a hospital at Fort Worth, Tex., of Prof. Augustus G. Reichert, formerly in charge of the music department of McLean College, in this city. He was 50 years of age, an accomplished musician and a cultured gentleman. He was a bachelor. For several years he had made his home at Weatherford, Tex. Heart disease was the cause of death. Mr. Reichert was a brother of Mrs. C.E. West.

SEBREE FIRE

Three Store Rooms Go Up in Smoke.

Sebree, Ky., Oct. 11.—Fire this afternoon destroyed two three-story buildings belonging to W. B. Smith and an adjoining building belonging to Brown & Luck, who conducted a dry goods store. The fire was started by a coal oil explosion in the basement of Smith's store. The total loss is $50,000, partially covered by insurance.

Flat work such as sheets, table cloths and all other such work can be done cheaper at Hopkinsville Steam Laundry than by a wash woman, come and get our prices.

EQUITY FIRE.

Thought to be Work of Victim of Night Riders.

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 10.—The large Equity warehouse, belonging to J. J. Eagan, ten miles west of this city, was burned last night, together with the contents, 100,000 pounds of Equity tobacco, graded at 16 cents per pound; farming implements and feed. The loss is heavy, the tobacco being the only thing insured. The fire was the work of incendiaries, and it is thought the work of some one who has suffered at the hands of night riders.

Read our advertisement in this paper and you will not wonder why they have such crowds every day. Forbes Manufacturing Co. Incorporated.

ENGINEER KELLY

Meets Death in Wreck on Southern.

Frank Kelly, an engineer on the Southern railroad, and well known here, was killed in a wreck near Jackson, Ala., Friday. His engine and six cars plunged through an open drawbridge into Tombigbee river. Mr. Kelly had been a railroad man for about thirty years, having formerly been fireman on the old "Southeastern," now the Henderson division of the L. & N., and had a run between Nashville and this city.

STANLEY'S SATIRE

Takes the Hide Off Nick at Howell, Ind.

Probably the richest bit of satire this campaign has produced was that hurled by Stanley at Nicholas Longworth. His audience was convulsed and for 15 minutes kept alternately cheering and breaking into spasms of laughter. He compared Longworth to the goose which by its cackling aroused the people of Rome to resist the plot at their safety and liberties.

Coming down to the Republican campaign, he denominated Roosevelt as the great philosopher and fakir here and harlequin of the world's stage to-day.

"From the time of the Republican convention when Chairman Hitchcock established himself with his card case, the Republican campaign has been one comedy of errors. Nothing like it has ever been seen before. And to make the court of the redoubtable Theodore complete, the king's fool, in spangles and tasseled cap, now comes upon the scene. LONGWORTH SUPERCEDES DONKEY."

"There is a legend that one night when the guards slept at the gates of Rome the barbarians creeping on to the city aroused a flock of geese, who cackling, awakened the guards and uncovered the attackers' plots. The geese became a sacred bird and to-day in the ruins of the forum on column and facade its graven image may be seen."

"History repeats itself. Bryan has been warning us, the newspapers of the country have been protesting that the high-handed plan of the president to name a successor was the earnest of a dynasty and that after all the president wanted to put a fat boy in the chair while he went hunting and then return to claim his seat. There was no way to prove it, yet there was every reason to suspect it. When wise men failed to uncover the plot, the liberties of the American people, like the safety of ancient Rome, has been saved by the babbling of a goose. The Democratic party can now state its ass. Like the Romans we will now immortalize the goose. In benevolent stupidity, Nicholas has put the donkey out of business."

The uproarious laughter caused by this sally was indescribable. Men and women laughed until tears rolled down their cheeks.—Evansville Courier.

Gov. Willson At Madisonville

Madisonville, Ky., Oct. 12.—Gov. A. E. Willson spoke at the Tabernacle Saturday afternoon to a large audience. He was met by a committee of the leading Republicans of the town and conducted to the Lott Hotel, where he received many friends.

He again attacked Congressman Stanley in his speech and as at other places devoted much attention to the night rider issue.

You are cordially invited to attend our exhibit any day this week. Come and have a cup of coffee and hot biscuits, if you intend to buy or not. Forbes Manufacturing Co. Incorporated.
